

Do Men Gossip More Than Women?

Growing up in a moderate sized town of about 250,000, I found myself like every other teenager managing to fit in. During the course of middle school, girlfriends were plentiful as we all had common interests and obstacles to overcome. By 8th grade I would find myself on the phone with a girlfriend for at least 1 to 1/2 hours just gossiping. Nothing important. Just chitchat.

As the years progressed and I got acclimated with my high school, by 11th grade I found that my friend had way more guy friends than girlfriends. Yes, part of the reason was because they were trying to “holla” but still the majority of these guys just wanted to talk.....
